Minnesota Public Library Statistics 1983

Introduction by William G. Asp

This issue of Minnesota Libraries reports public library statistics for the library fiscal year ending during the calendar year 1983. In most cases, the library fiscal year coincides with the calendar year, and in all cases the statistics are comparable with those published annually for more than eighty years.

Statistics are gathered as required by Minnesota Statutes 134.31, Subd. 4. Forms were distributed in January, 1984, to all Minnesota public libraries. Information reported is that supplied by each library.

Returned forms were checked by Jan Feye-Stukas, Cherie Eichinger, Ruth Miller and Alan Lewis. Some 200 data elements were loaded into an Apple II microcomputer using DB Master software for tabulation. Charts were prepared on a Epson LQ1500 printer.

Space does not permit publication of all available data. Some of the additional data is summarized in this introduction. Persons interested in specific tabulations should contact Jan Feye-Stukas. Persons noting errors in an entry are requested to report errors to Jan Feye-Stukas.

The Population Served

At the end of 1983, the number of Minnesotans served by tax-supported public libraries was 3,944,297, or 96.8% of the state's population. Of the population with public library service, 98% are served by libraries participating in regional public library systems. There were 330 staffed public library buildings in 1983, one more than in 1982 with the establishment of the library in Westbrook, a member of the Plum Creek Library System. The 330 public library buildings are located in 298 Minnesota cities. The number of bookmobiles operated by Minnesota public libraries increased from 30 to 31.

Minnesota's public libraries are organized into 135 administrative units — regional, county and city libraries. The number of public libraries not affiliated with a regional system declined to 22 when Windom rejoined the Plum Creek Library System. At the end of 1983, sixteen counties remained with no county wide public library service, and the number of Minnesotans with no tax-supported public library service was 131,673. The decision of the Lac qui Parle County Commissioners to discontinue public library service resulted in an increase in the number of Minnesotans without public library service. The decision in 1984 of Dodge County to join Southeastern Libraries Cooperating and the initiation of service in Traverse County by the Viking Library System reduces the number of unserved persons.

The number of staff in Minnesota public libraries grew from 1830 full-time equivalent to 1,884.2. The number of full-time equivalent staff holding the Masters Degree in Library Science grew from 337.2 to 345.3.

The Supply of Library Materials

Minnesota's public libraries offer their users growing collections of books, magazines, disc and tape recordings, video cassettes and discs, 16mm and 8mm films, art prints and other audiovisual materials. The number of items in public library collections increased by 7.96% over 1982. As 1983 ended, Minnesota public libraries held 9,873,615 books, 21,038 periodical subscriptions, and 4,459,252 audiovisual, vertical file and miscellaneous items. Libraries reported having 3,260 toys and games, and 600 microcomputer software diskettes for public use.

The Sharing of Library Resources

With interlibrary loan networks, users of Minnesota public libraries gain access to millions of books in the state and nation. Participating public libraries may obtain materials for their users from other public libraries within their regional system, or in some instances, from their multicounty multi-type library system. Materials in collections of the metropolitan public libraries and the libraries of private colleges shared with public libraries throughout the state through the Public Library Access Network (PLANET), headquartered at the St. Paul Public Library. Materials in academic, public and some special libraries as shared under a contract for services of the Minnesota Interlibrary Telecommunications Exchange (MINITEX).

Public libraries reported a total of 186,984 interlibrary loan requests in 1983, an 8% increase over 1982. There is some evidence that part of the increase may be attributable to the operation of interlibrary loan services in several of the multi-type library systems. Of the total number of requests, 175,600 or 94% of the requests were filled, an increase of 11% over 1982. Particularly impressive was the 16% increase in the number of items supplied at the regional level. Regional systems supplied 124,534 items or 67% of the total. PLANET supplied 24,580 items, 13% of the total. Other sources supplied 11,384 items, 4% of the total.

The volume of interlibrary loan activity, although increasing, continues to account for less than one-half of one percent of the total circulation of Minnesota's public libraries. While the percentage is small, the availability to library users of materials beyond the local library is of incalculable value and importance.

The Use of Public Libraries

There is substantial evidence that more Minnesotans are using public libraries for more services more often than ever before. The public library is the information center in the information age. Public libraries are used for reference information, support of formal education, informal educational pursuits, browsing, leisure reading, group meetings, and numerous other purposes. In many libraries, many of these uses are unrecorded.

Library circulation is only one measure of library use. It is the only measure used in every Minnesota public library, so it is the sole available indicator of public library use statewide.

Minnesota public libraries report that their users borrowed 28,684,321 items in 1983, an increase of 6.46% over 1982 and an increase of 17.68% since 1980. Per capita circulation rose from 6.8 items in 1982 to 7.27 items in 1983.

Libraries serving about 40% of Minnesota's population reported various activity measures they collect. In these libraries, 4,558, 200 people used the buildings; 1,630,100 reference questions were asked; 1,488,000 directional questions were asked; and 4,106,000 items were used in the building and not checked out. While these figures are only for some of the public libraries in the state, they are some indication of public library activity.

Special Services of Public Libraries

A number of Minnesota public libraries report specialized services for persons having special needs. For the homebound and for persons living in remote areas, 10 public library systems offer books-by-mail. Service in institutions such as hospitals and nursing homes is reported by 130 libraries, and 28 libraries report serving persons in Corrections facilities. Ninety-two libraries report that they deliver library materials to persons who are homebound, and 39 report specialized services for persons having handicapping conditions. Eighteen public libraries offer services specifically for migrant workers, and 11 report specialized services for ethnic minorities. Twenty-seven public libraries reported providing services for day care centers. Ten libraries reported involvement in literacy programs, although a recent survey showed that some 30 public libraries are involved in literacy activities. For names of the specific libraries offering specialized services, contact Jan Feye-Stukas.

Public Libraries and Cable Television

Public library involvement in cable television continues to grow. Public libraries in Cloquet and Two Harbors continue to operate public access channels. Anoka County Library and Columbia Heights Public Library operate library channels. The Arrowhead Library System, Cloquet Public Library, Anoka County Library, Hennepin County Library, Silver Bay Public Library and Two Harbors Public Library provide training in use of video production equipment. The above mentioned libraries plus International Falls Public Library, Scott County Library, Nobles County Library, Rock County and New Ulm report producing cable programming. Eight libraries report that they are involved in cable television in other ways.

Public Library Funding

Public library service in Minnesota continues to be financed primarily from county and city funds. Public library receipts in 1983 totaled $53,893,631, an increase of 10.3% over 1982. Local support, which accounts for 86.4% of the total, increased 12%. State and federal funds provided 8.1% of the total and declined 3.1%, probably due to a new payment schedule for state funds. The remaining 5.5% is miscellaneous sources of income. Fines and fees accounted for 1.9%, gifts for 1%, interest for .5%, and all other sources for the remainder.

Local receipts per capita increased from $10.48 in 1982 to $11.81 in 1983, an increase of 12.7%. With some notable exceptions, local support tends to be highest for public libraries in the seven county Twin Cities metropolitan area, where local support per capita averages $17.08. Excluding the libraries in those counties, average local support per capita in 1983 was $6.48. This is an increase of only 2.7% over 1982, while per capita local support in the Twin Cities metropolitan area increased 16.9%. Clearly, a general need remains for increased financial support for Minnesota public libraries.

Receipts reported are only for operating purposes, and as in previous years, exclude capital expenditures. Also excluded are indirect receipts or inkind contributions, the estimated dollar value of services paid by cities or counties such as utilities and space in city-owned buildings. Often it is extremely difficult to estimate the value of these indirect receipts. Libraries reported an estimated total of $1,314,354 in 1982.

Public library expenditures for capital outlay in 1983 totaled $1,795,074, a decrease from the $2,630,635 reported in 1982. These expenditures tend to be for library construction and remodeling, and for equipment for automated library systems.

Public Library Expenditures

Operating expenditures of Minnesota public libraries in 1983 totaled $52,024,335, an increase of 7.67% over 1982. Per capita expenditures for the population served increased from $12.23 to $13.18.

Expenditure patterns in 1983 resemble closely patterns in previous years. Expenditures for personnel were 67% of total expenditures and increased 8.5%. Expenditures for materials were $7,987,737, an increase of 6.97%.

Public libraries reported spending $5,968,021 for books, an increase of 2.3%. Expenditures for periodicals totaled $734,869, a 12% increase. Expenditures for audiovisual materials totaled $740,248. Expenditures for database searching totaled $107,729.

Public libraries spent $1,339,059 on library automation activities, including $222,154 for online catalogs, $433,926 for catalog production, and $557,757 for other automation activities.

Public libraries spent $24,299 for staff development, $162,853 for continuing education, $136,908 for publicity materials, $527,565 for telephone service, and $844,342 for postage.

Total operating costs for bookmobiles was $279,499, less than one-half of one percent of total public library operating expenses. Operating costs for delivery vehicles were $278,074.

Arrangement of Content of Tables

The arrangement and content of the tables is similar to reports in previous years. The summary table provides totals for each regional public library system and for the unaffiliated public libraries. Totals for the state are shown in this table.

Regional public library systems are reported in alphabetical order with system totals at the beginning. Data is presented for each branch of the consolidated regional public libraries and the county and city libraries. For federated regional public library systems, system totals are given first followed by data for system operations reflecting activities and services of the system headquarters. Member libraries of federated systems are reported next in alphabetical order. Bookmobiles are listed with their circulation and the total number of hours per week that they are available for public use. Circulation of books by mail programs is included in total system circulation. All per capita amounts were calculated using population data from the 1980 census. For individual libraries, per capita amounts were calculated using the population for the governmental unit primarily responsible for financing the library.

Sometimes useful comparisons can be made by size of library, population or budget. Computer printouts can be made using these characteristics and may be obtained by contacting Jan Feye-Stukas.
